“Bugmobile”

Tuesday, August 14th

10am-11am

At the Center For All Seasons

Is a bug an insect? Is a spider a bug? These questions and many more are answered as we explore the world of arthropods. We look at the forms and functions of different groups of insects and explore many fascinating adaptations essential for survival such as mimicry, camouflage, armor and venom. There will be live specimens, displays, models and activities present as we look at the many unique characteristics of these amazing creatures.
